

Lorna Runkle has over 30 years' experience in business management, working in both the domestic and international markets. Lorna achieved significant bottom-line results in high-identity blue-chip corporations and fast growth entrepreneurial firms. Her experience includes product management at Procter & Gamble and Warner-Lambert (now Pfizer), international sales at Cozzoli Machine Company, strategic planning and general management at Algroup Wheaton (an Alcan company), and business consulting, management coaching and training. For over 10 years, Lorna's passion has been helping both private and non-profit organizations grow, increase efficiency, reduce costs, and secure resources and grant money.

Lorna Runkle has an MBA in Marketing and Finance (with Distinction) and a BS Degree (Cum Laude) in Business Economics.